MAJOR LUMBERING CONCERNS PREPARE TO START WORK

Former Employees Given Preference In Plans For Season; Joint Payroll Approximates $800,000 For Nearly 700 Men

El Dorado County's two major lumbering concerns are preparing to start the season's work, which will provide employment for approximately 670 men and a seasonal payroll for the two biggest plants of about $800,000.

Spokesmen for the two concerns, the Michigan-California Lumber Company, at Camino, and the California Door Company, at Diamond Springs, said their firms are giving preference to former employees in the hiring of men for the summer and that they do not expect to hire additional men.

Approximately seventy fallers and buckers went into the woods for the Michigan-California Lumber Company over the weekend. They are to start work on Wednesday and it is expected that the mill at Pino Grande will start in about ten days.

The Michigan-California Lumber Company expects to reach a seasonal peak of employment with a payroll of about 440 men who will draw for the season's work approximately $500,000, Manager Swift Berry said.

The California Door Company will send advance crews to Camp Webster, above Caldar, in about ten days and hopes to start the mill at Diamond Springs about April 17th. The company will reach a peak of employment numbering about 230 men who will draw approximately $300,000 for the season's work, it was stated. This is in addition to the work of the Stockton Box Company, which operates the box factory at the California Door plant.

The Placerville Lumber Company began work in the woods last week and reports state that the Sacramento Box Company started work at China Flat on Monday.

Lucy Brothers are preparing their mill on Clear Creek for work and repair work also is under way at Blair Brothers mill, near Pacific House.

All told, it is estimated that a total of about 1200 men will find employment in the lumbering industry in the county this season.

RUSSI MURDER SUSPECT TO HAVE TRIAL ON MAY 8TH

SACRAMENTO — The trial of Lloyd W. Smith, accused of the murder of Grover Russell, El Dorado County rancher, on March 8th, was set by Superior Judge Dal M. Lemmon on Monday for May 2nd.

Smith entered a dual plea of not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity. Judge Lemmon appointed Dr. Bert Howard of Sacramento and Dr. Margaret Smyth, superintendent of the Stockton State Hospital, as alienists to examine Smith on his insanity plea. Smith is represented by Attorney James Gaffney.

Russi died from a fracture of the skull. Smith, employed for several years as a gardener and handyman at the Russi home, is accused of beating Russi with a piece of stove-wood after becoming enraged during an argument over the weather at a breakfast table.

SACRAMENTO — Mrs. George F. King of Big Canyon Dredge at Shingle Springs, an assistant manager of the mine, will talk about Doodle Bug Mining before the Sacramento Branch, National League of American Pen-women, Saturday following a luncheon at 1 p. m. in the YWCA. Mrs. S. A. Pepper will preside.

O. E. S. Officers To Meet At Capital

Preparations are being made to Sacramento Chapter No. 190, O. E. S., to entertain the elective officers of Eastern Star chapters in northern California at the Eastern Star temple in Sacramento on Friday evening of this week. Mrs. Addie Calvert, associate matron of Sacramento chapter, is general chairman for the evening.

Mrs. Ella Norris and Mrs. Dr. George Oviedo, were in town from Coloma on Tuesday. Mrs. Oviedo, having come up the day in a limousine from her home at San Francisco, spent the pre-Easter week at a summer home at Coloma.

ECONOMY ASKED AT CAPITAL

Legislators Besieged By Letters, Telephone And Wire By Voters

By A. G. THURMAN
 Assemblyman, Sixth District

SACRAMENTO — With the state's history before the lower house the past week, our legislators were flooded with telegrams and letters urging them to stop increases in taxes and to support and cooperate in any move toward a substantial reduction in the budget. Your Assemblyman received telegrams, letters and even telephone calls from all parts of the district urging economy. And as we write these lines we are reminded that our campaign platform contained this statement: "I am for sane legislation and economy in government."

One of the telegrams the writer received contained this statement: "Conditions do not warrant increase in taxes. Use every effort to stop any increase."

And we might add that Democrats as well as Republicans received similar telegrams. Your representative received more than two hundred such telegrams.

The only correspondence the writer received which favored an increased budget came in the form of resolutions from the Workers Alliance which organization is urging the legislators to increase the proposed relief budget from $73,600,000 to $110,000,000. This organization we understand is composed of people who are on relief.

The whole relief setup has come in for considerable criticism the past week. We need not go into details here because most of the facts have already been printed in the daily press. Charges have been made (Continued on Page 2)

3 "BIKES" STOLEN, ARE FOUND IN BRUSH AT GREENSTONE

"Spring vacation" from school promises to be an especially memorable time for three Placerville boys, for Sheriff George M. Smith reports that three bicycles which had been reported as stolen, have been found.

The "bikes" were found by county residents, concealed in two caches in the brush just off the highway in the Greenstone section between El Dorado and Shingle Springs.

Presumably, they were stolen by parties who intended to take them eventually to Sacramento, for a light truck has been seen in the district, driving slowly as though looking for the wheels. However, between the time they were thrown into the brush and the time they were found to pick them up, they were arrived by residents in the vicinity and concealed elsewhere pending such time as they could be turned over to the sheriff.

Sheriff Smith states he has some grounds for further investigation in the case. The bicycles, he reports, belonged to Dennis Forni, to Allen Cambellack, and to the Bathurst family.

Income Tax Returns Off 25 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The treasury revealed today that income tax collections in March totaled $505,722, 25 per cent less than last March but considerably better than had been anticipated.

TRAVEL SEASON UNDER WAY

Chamber Of Commerce Active In Behalf Of Tourists, Community

Evidence that the 1939 auto tour season is all ready well launched is reported by Secretary Wallace M. Ripley, of the El Dorado County Chamber of Commerce.

The mid spring weather and the attractions of the world's fair at Treasure Island and Sacramento's plans for celebrating its centennial are resulting in activity earlier in the year than is usually noted among auto tourists, Ripley said.

With this in mind, the Chamber of Commerce committee on the marketing of historic sites in the county, met Tuesday morning and drew up designs for proposed markers. The designs will be submitted to the Board of Supervisors at an early meeting.

The Chamber of Commerce committee on road signs has contracted for several signs along principal highways in the state, directing travelers to the Mother Lode County along State Route 49, and to Placerville over historic U. S. Route 50.

"This is all timely," Mr. Ripley declared. "Travel is well under way and we are getting results from our participation in the Sacramento-Tahoe Region exhibit at the world's fair. All ready I have received several personal visits from tourists, who were directed here by our representative at Treasure Island, and who wanted to know where some of our historic shrines are located and how they may be reached."

Health Hopes Told Lions

Nature Of Possible District Organization Outlined To Club

Placerville Lions had as their guest speaker Tuesday noon, Dr. George C. Hill, of the state health department, who spoke concerning the formation of organization of a health district which might include El Dorado County, in which a full-time health service could be provided.

Dr. Hill was presented to the club by Dr. L. J. Anderson.

Lion Vice-president E. E. Van Harlingen, turned the gavel in the fashion of a veteran in the absence of Lion President H. E. Dillinger.

Lion Alton Sutton had as his guest, Ford Park, formerly of Missouri, whom he introduced as his successor in the office of the state health department. Letters to the club called attention to the Donner Club meeting with the Folsom Club on Wednesday, April 19, and to the observance in El Dorado County of Public Schools Week, opening April 24.

Lion Tom Maul announced that the week is also Constitution Week and that on Sunday, April 30, the 100th anniversary of the national Constitution, the American Legion will present a flag to the SRA camp at Texas Hill. It was suggested that Lions attend the exercises and otherwise share in Constitution Week as might be fitting.

Dr. Hill had previously spoken before various groups in the county concerning a proposition of forming a two or three-county health district, to include El Dorado and Placer Counties and possibly Nevada County.

Such a district, he said, would not increase the amount which the counties all ready are spending on health work, and with assistance from the state would provide a full-time health service for the district.

Davenport's application for probation was granted when he pleaded guilty almost a year ago to a charge of grand theft in connection with high grading.

Recently reported to have been involved in a disorder at Coloma, Davenport was sent word to report at the sheriff's office for questioning. Whether he received that word is not known, but in any event he left the state and went to Reno on Wednesday of last week, where he was taken into custody by Sheriff George M. Smith and cited for hearing by the probation officer on whether he had violated his probation.

The court found, in the hearing, that the terms of probation had been violated.

Albert Frey is home for the pre-Easter week, from studies at Sacramento Junior College.

Tommy's Next?

Pretty Broadway showgirl Yvonne Arden (above) will become next and fifth bride of Tommy Manville, playboy heir to the Manville asbestos millions, according to reports. As usual, the girl is a blonde.

Easter Season Has Influence In Barn Yard

The hens in the barn yard at the William Wood place at Cold Springs know that Easter is coming.

At least one of them does, and she has contributed a little something to the observance.

It's a giant egg, eight inches around the ellipse and six and one-half inches around the middle, and "decorated" with what we judge is an adaptation of the "modern" theme in art.

Mr. Wood, explaining that the egg was laid by a hen produced by a cross of the Minorca and Leghorn strain, brought the egg to our office Monday and it is displayed (for a limited time) in our office window.

STATE'S HIGH SCHOOLS VOTE TO CONTINUE FOOTBALL

Interscholastic Federation Approves Sport By Vote Of 256 To 78; Proposals For Curbing Player Injuries To Be Conference Topic

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Members of the California Interscholastic Federation today approved football as an interscholastic sport by a vote of 256 to 78.

The ballot of high school principals was taken on demands of smaller schools that the sport be abandoned or curtailed because of danger of injury to the players.

The vote showed schools with 200 or less enrollment voted 63 for and 29 against football and that 56 of the votes cast against the game came from schools of less than 500 enrollment.

Directors of the C. I. F. decided to submit to the state C. I. F. meeting at Los Angeles, May 27, recommendations for curbing gridiron injuries.

The program would include thorough medical examinations, equalization of competing elevations, limitation of the season, more adequate equipment to be bought by school districts, a thorough pre-season training, and introduction of rules permitting unlimited substitutions.

The City Council at its meeting Monday night named a committee of three, consisting of Clifton Williams, M. T. Kelly and E. K. Fowler, to report on the site of the St. Francis Hotel at the corner of Coloma and Main Streets, and make a report, in connection with the council's consideration of condemnation of the site as unsuitable.

The corner site of the palace of business of Frederick Sieg, one of the pioneer business men of the community and the founder of Druidism in California, has a historic value in the community and those who hope to see historic features preserved have expressed the hope that some means of preventing the destruction of the old walls may be found.

The council also passed a resolution of intention to grant a franchise to the P. G. & E. Company and passed for first reading an ordinance establishing a set-back rule on Main Street between the Placerville Bottling Works and Clay Street, which will, when finally adopted, apply to future construction on Main Street in that area.

The council will meet again on Monday night, April 10, by which time it is hoped the report of the committee on inspection of the St. Francis hotel corner may be available.

County School Superintendent K. W. McCoy will go to Pacific Wednesday to meet with trustees of the Sly Park school on the selection of a site for their proposed new school building.

Trustees Floyd Poole and Matt Blair, of the district, called on the Superintendent Tuesday and announced that the district desires to erect a new building.

The site having been chosen, plans will be asked of the state school office at Sacramento and upon their receipt and approval, the start of work will be in order.

Placerville Men Off On Two-Week Vacation

Starting a leave of absence of "ten days or two weeks" and having "no more idea than the man in the moon" about where they were going, Edwin F. Smith and Joseph Schwartz left Placerville Tuesday morning. They are on vacation.

The two were equipped to stop anywhere they might take a liking to the country and move on any time they choose. They declined to say where they are going but we suspect their trip will include Death Valley and perhaps Boulder Dam.

28 SOFTBALL CLUB LEAGUE

Directors, Managers Meet Thursday Night; Rosters Must Be Filed On May 1st

There are reasonably good prospects that twenty-eight clubs representing about 400 individuals in active participation, will take part in organized softball play during the coming season.

This is the report of directors of the County Softball League, who have called a meeting to be held on Thursday night at the P. G. & E. Company hall. The meeting is intended especially for team managers and league officers.

At a recent conference, it was tentatively proposed that the competition this year shall be in three groups, two of them for play between men's teams, and one for the young women.

Prospects are that there will be nine clubs entered in the unlimited division, nine more in the fraternal division, and from four to six clubs in the women's division.

The league directors also discussed the probability of starting on May 15th and of holding a dance on Saturday evening, May 13th.

A "school for umpires" was recommended, with Cliff Swesey to be in charge, and all applicants for appointment as umpires would be required to have attended the school.

The directors gave tentative approval to the use of the "baseball stitch" type of ball for this season's play.

The proposals will be submitted to the team managers for discussion at Thursday night's meeting and are tentative until approval by the joint meeting of managers and directors.

All team rosters are expected to be on file not later than May 1st so that time may be allowed for drawing up the schedules of play in time to start the season on May 15th.

Jack Benny Is Fined $10,000

Year's Jail Term Is Suspended As Radio Comedian Admits Guilt

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Benny, shamefaced and flushed, pleaded guilty in federal court today to smuggling jewels and received a suspended sentence of one year and a day in prison and a fine of $10,000.

The $12,000 a week radio and screen comedian, charged with smuggling $2131 worth of jewelry into the United States, stood in federal courtroom while U. S. District Judge Vincent L. Liebell passed the sentence and chided him for his admitted illegal activities.

Judge Liebell asked to see a copy of the three count indictment. While he studied the document, tension in the courtroom mounted and Benny alternately blanched and blushed.

Liebell pronounced sentence count by count. On the first he fined Benny $5000 and ordered him "committed until the fine is paid," and sentenced him to one year and one day in prison, adding, "execution of sentence is suspended and the defendant is placed on probation."

He fined Benny $2500 each on the second and third counts and then explained:

"Mr. Benny, that means you must pay a fine of $10,000 and that you have been sentenced to prison but that the sentence is suspended."

He gave Benny until 4 p. m. today to pay the fine. The comedian's attorneys indicated he would do so before leaving by airplane for Hollywood tonight.

King Ghazi Killed In Auto Accident

BAGHDAD, IRAK (UP) — King Ghazi I, outstanding motor enthusiast among world monarchs, was killed today in an automobile accident.

The 27-year-old king was succeeded automatically by the Emir Faisal, his son, born May 2, 1935. It was expected that the infant king would rule under a regency, such as those which act for 14-year-old King Ananda Mahidol of Siam and 15-year-old King Peter of Yugoslavia.

SIX BOYS NABBED IN CONNECTION WITH GAS THEFTS

The sheriff's office had six boys in custody Tuesday morning in connection with the recent thefts of gasoline in the county. Ultimate disposition of the case was not indicated.

Sheriff Smith reported he was going to report the matter to Juvenile Officer Charles W. Bai and to the parents of the boys to see what he can do about it.

The sheriff reports that the boys are all juveniles.

THE HOLLYWOOD
LAMPLIGHTER

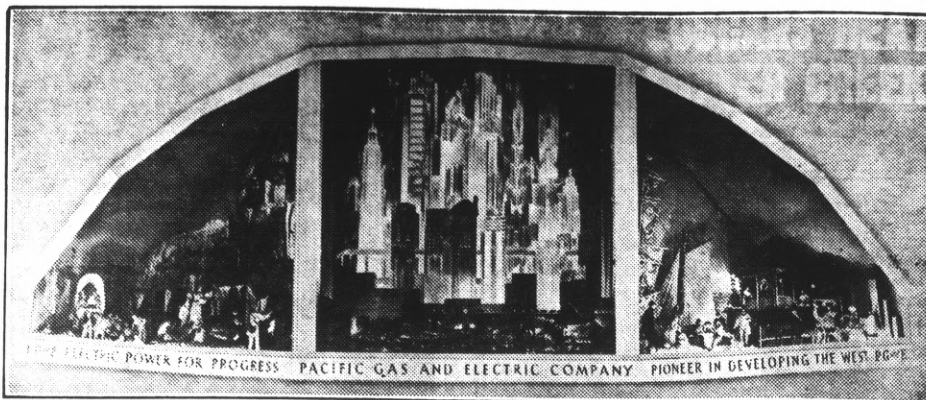

By WILSON BURTT

HOLLYWOOD.—Sally Rand retracted an "OK" to let a wax figure of herself appear in a museum scene for Bob Hope's and Gene Krupa's new picture, "Some Like It Hot." Previously Sally said such a glorified statue would be all right providing a name card be placed under the figure stating: "I am opening my Nude Ranch at the San Francisco World's Fair." Miss Rand refused, however when she learned that the statues surrounding hers were all of personalities who had been dead for years.

The "rib" of the week has unquestionably been credited to Don Ameche. Seems that Don grows very tired of his strenuous daily work at the studio and like anyone else, likes to have some fun break the monotony of things. Working with Claudette Colbert on "Midnight," Don persuaded one of the many hundred extras to help him out. The extra, an elderly man with a flowing white beard entered Miss Colbert's portable dressing room and said, "Miss Colbert, I have always wanted to meet you. In fact you've been my favorite movie star ever since I was a child."

A particularly unique and outstanding yet not publicized Hollywood personality is Carlos Barbe, a member of the consular corps who makes a living by renting his big automobile to the motion picture companies. Carlos who is 32, is the vice consul for Uruguay stationed in Los Angeles, and is the son of a prominent family in Montevideo, where he was born. He studied law but was powerless to relinquish the call of the flickers. For the past ten years he has been doing bit parts in pictures when not driving one of his luxurious cars from studio to studio where he derives a neat little income from their rental. One of the requirements of the vice consul's job which he has had for two years is making commercial reports to Montevideo, visiting passports of tourists, and lending aid and comfort to his countrymen who happen to be in Los Angeles. Carlos also rates the swanky pair of U. S. license plates which are good for four years. To be brief, this is what Hollywood calls a GRAVITY TRAIN job.

Last year a group of enterprising youths from the University of Southern California thought up the Clever idea of a college magazine which would include campus society, sports, cinema news, and fashions. Each presented in a new and interesting style. Quite obviously, the university demanded a finger in the pie but the boys finally bucked that idea by bringing out the first number of "TOPPER" this month, and it is going over in a big way. Among its contributors are Mickey Rooney, Parkyakarkus, Bill Henry, Dolly Tree, Sidney Miller, and many other outstanding biggies of film and radio fame. The skeptics said publisher Clark Liddell couldn't swing it but 5,000 copies in a week says he can.

Letter to the Hollywood Keyholders: In an interview with Charles Ruggles this most versatile actor of the flickers states that he is very glad to be cast in straight roles in preference to those of an inebricated comic. "I have worked my way up playing drama and I think I can still do it—I think." Among 200 extras working under director Robert Florey on the "Magnificent Fraud," one seems to have been difficult to manage. "Now when I give the signal take off your hats. The president is dead," barked Florey. The cameras turned, he gave the signal, and off came every hat but one. "Hey, didn't you hear me?" yelled Florey. "I said take off your hat. The president is dead." Then from the mob came a screaming report, "I take my hat off to no president, dead or alive." The directors and their assistants argued that it was all only acting but the unruly extra gave the same story every time so he was promptly replaced with a more broad-minded mobster. Mack Gordon and Harry Revel who brought their piano along on the special train en route to the preview of "Alexander Graham Bell" at the Exposition in San Francisco, never realized their latest song, "Your The World's Fair-est," which they wrote for World's that both man and wife have been employed in relief administration at high salaries. As a result members of the majority party are not at all satisfied with the present relief administration setup.

The writer has some very definite views regarding relief. We are opposed to the high cost of administration and we also oppose politics in relief whether it be by the head of the department or by some organized group which is endeavoring to high pressure legislators into increasing the tax burden. We hold no brief for the past administration and if they made mistakes that is no reason why we should go on making mistakes. — Take politics out of relief and cut down the overhead and maybe we will have sufficient money to give to those who need it. But when demands are made to add $37,000,000 for relief we pause to ask just where is this money coming from.

Your assemblyman is not opposed to relief for those who need it. We will vote for an adequate amount but believe that the legislature should have some say as to how it shall be spent. We do not favor giving anyone a blank check for $110,000,000 to spend as he sees fit.

The hearing on the budget in the Assembly which was to have been continued this week has been postponed until next Monday. However, during the first two days' hearing last week an item amounting to $200,000 with which to create a state health insurance plan, was eliminated from the budget. This item will be placed in the proposed bill to establish such an insurance plan which now is in committee.

Your representative in the lower house has had a busy week endeavoring to protect the interests of the people of the district. Last week we were fortunate in having the support of two other representatives in opposing a bill which would have eliminated the five highway patrol registration stations which operate in the district as well as in other parts of the state. With the assistance of Assemblyman Pulcher and Assemblywoman Mrs. Daley, we were able to defeat the measure on the floor by a vote of 44 to 26.

Also last week we were successful in being able to have the Judiciary Codes committee favorably pass five of our bills and hope that we can be as successful when they come up for a vote on the floor.

Labor bills which are injurious to the small mountain counties are continually being passed out of committee and today your representative and others who represent the rural areas, battled against a forty-four hour week bill for women which will severely handicap the small business institutions. These bills which perhaps have some merit in the larger cities usually work to the detriment of the smaller communities. For that reason we opposed a wages and hours bill in the Labor and Capital committee last week.

Bills are continually being introduced endeavoring to regulate business and the lives of people. On Monday night over the lone objection of your representative the Labor and Capital committee gave a "do pass" to a bill which almost eliminates the small boy from selling or distributing newspapers and magazines. It appears that laws are being made to take away even the initiative of the small boy who wants to earn a few dimes and nickels in his spare time. The hope is to let a kid sell or deliver newspapers in his spare time than to make him idle his time away in doing nothing. But welfare workers must have something to do so they have bills introduced to prevent a boy from having any initiative or ambition at the age when most youngsters want to earn a little spending money. Truly we are beginning to learn that the life of a legislator is a great life, if you don't weaken.

During 1938 the San Joaquin Valley Poultry Producers Association did $1,700,000 worth of business.

FORT PEACEFUL 120 YEARS

ST. PAUL, Minn., (UP) — Fort Snelling, in its 120 years as a U. S. military garrison, has made a rather unusual record — no battles have ever been fought within its province, its cannon have fired at no foe, and no enemy has invaded its portals.

The garrison's history goes way back to the days of the Louisiana Purchase when in 1805 Lieutenant Zebulon Pike's treaty acquired land on which it is located. The fort was established following Lieut. Col. Henry Leavenworth's expedition upriver in 1818.

The Junior Class of El Dorado County High School wishes to thank you for the publicity given to the Junior Play. The publicity helped in making "The Clutching Claw" the success that it was. Yours truly, Mary Jane Newman, secretary.

(Ed. Note.—We agree with the secretary of the Junior Class that "The Clutching Claw" was a success. Some of the players, we thought, gave an interpretation to their parts which was almost professional; to their own credit and to the credit of their director. We are glad to have been able to contribute to the support of so worthy a presentation.)

BOYS FIGHT; SCHOOL PAYS

NASSAU, N. Y., (UP)—A fist fight between two school boys in the School 8 gymnasium cost the taxpayers $100. Frank Andrews, age 13, charged he was injured in a struggle resulting from a game of volleyball. A suit was filed but the school settled.

Exceptions Menace Forming of Habits

Parents Play Havoc With Child's Training If They "Rock Him Just This Time," Myers Says

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

I AM convinced that most of the exceptions made by mothers, once they have a habit fairly well going, are made because they think they are being kind to the baby. They are sure "the little fellow must have colic, else he wouldn't cry," or that "he is getting a new tooth," "I'll rock him just this time" or "I'll lie down beside him only once," they may say. The trouble is that as the days go by and there is no colic and no teething, the habit of crying for attention keeps on growing. Exceptions always play havoc with good habit building.

In your attempt to avoid exceptions you will meet with difficulties. You have decided, for example, that the afternoon nap shall come at two o'clock. Since the baby's birth you have been away from home but little. You are invited to spend the afternoon at the home of a friend. You feel that you need the companionship which this contact will afford. There is always the weighing of values. Which is the more important? Perhaps you can take baby in a carriage, and he can sleep out-of-doors.

One Choice

If your going means that baby will be handed from one person to another, and that he will come home with nerves unstrung, there would seem to be but one choice. Such choices in the baby's favor usually mean personal sacrifice to you; nevertheless, good returns come from your sacrifices during the early stages of habit forming. The mother who takes her baby away from home must spend several days, perhaps, in added effort to restore the old routine.

If you are able to provide someone who is competent to care for your baby, then you may go and still keep his habits as you want them. If to have someone keep the baby is a matter of financial sacrifice, even then it may be worth going without some things you need in order to get away, and to get the baby used to some other personality than your own.

Being Kind

Both in young babies and in older children mothers seem to make exceptions because they feel sorry for the child. They think they are being kind. They really are being unkind. To vary a program means later suffering by the child. That mother is most kind to her child who has a definite schedule and who sticks by it.

If you are an expectant mother, your best opportunity is to resolve now that when you return from the hospital with your baby, you are going to continue to cultivate the good habits which have been trained in him there. You will go home at the end of two weeks, perhaps, with his habits fairly well begun. One day's exception from this program will undo much that the doctor and nurse did for you and your baby while you were away.

Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

AUGUSTA, Ga., (UP)—Ask Walter Hagen what he thinks of Ralph Guldahl as a golfer and he will tell you that Guldahl is one of the finest competitors ever to walk a fairway.

Ask Bob Jones the same question and he will tell you that Guldahl is one of the finest competitors of all time.

Ask Ralph Guldahl what he thinks of Ralph Guldahl and he will find him in complete accord with Hagen and Jones. In other words, Guldahl thinks Guldahl is good.

He is not one of these champions who simper and says he had luck and was fortunate to win and that sort of bunk. The big, round-shouldered fellow in the white cap knows what he can do with a golf stick, and is refreshingly honest in admitting it.

Guldahl is not a braggart, mind you. When he is not hitting the ball he will tell you that he hasn't a chance, that he will be fortunate to finish in the first twenty. But when he is hitting the ball as he has been for the past month or two, he yields first place to no man.

Two years ago, on the eve of the open championship in Detroit, I asked him who he thought was going to win. His answer:

"I think I am."

Last year, on the day before opening play in the open at Denver, I again sought him out. "Whom do you like this year?" I asked.

"I like myself," he said quite calmly. "I am hitting the ball better than I was when I won at Detroit. I am playing against the same field so why shouldn't I win?"

Saturday, with the Masters' Tournament half completed, I was writing my story on the second round of play when Guldahl wandered by and pulled up a chair.

"Don't tell me you think you are going to win this one," I said.

"I sure am," he answered. "I've been runner-up here twice, and I'm sick of getting nosed out. I'm gonna get this one. You can write right now, quoting me, that I am going to win. There isn't a man in the field hitting the ball any harder or squarer than I am. I'm ready to shoot a little golf."

That's just what he said. Not in a boasting way. Just in a matter of fact voice.

Sunday he proved he knew what he was talking about. He shot himself into the lead in the third round and then finished with one of the greatest shows of golf under pressure this or any other tournament has ever seen. Just as he finished his 63rd hole of play, and walked to the tee to begin his final nine, announcer yelled that Sam Snead had finished the 72 holes with a record score of 280.

When Guldahl addressed the ball for his drive down the tenth (or 64th fairway) he knew he had to shoot a 34, two under par, to tie Snead, and a 33 to win. It takes a great competitor and a great golfer to meet the issue in the manner Guldahl did. He opened his bid for the title with a birdie, and then made it sure with a tremendous eagle three on the 13th hole.

His brassie second on the 13th was one of the greatest golf shots ever made by any man. From a bad lie, after a half-missed tee shot, he hit out with a spoon toward the green, 250 yards away, and guarded by the same creek that cost him the championship two years ago.

It was a live or die, all or nothing shot.
